We have made some more changes to the Multicategories Component for Joomla!1.5. Here is the Changelog for version 1.0.3:

- advanced pathway functionality that creates correct pathways for your articles even if they are accessed from the external manually placed link. This will work only if a link contains "Itemid" variable that belongs to menu item leading to the Multicategories Category. Also "catid" variable must be presented in a link and its value have to point to the Multicategories category, NOT TO the Joomla! Category. This is processed by the component automatically, but if you place a link to your article somewhere manually and want the pathway to lead to your Multicategories Category you should keep it in mind and include an appropriate Multicategory id value for the "catid" variable;
- Joomla! Category associate function that allows your articles being added to your Multicategories automatically when you add them to the Joomla! Category as it was discussed in our Forum .
